Actors Lee Marvin and Victor Mature filmed on location for the 1952 motion picture "THE GLORY BRIGADE" in Pulaski County and in Miller County. Many of the battle scenes were shot on the Big Piney, Gasconade and Osage Rivers. Hollywood filmmakers decided to bring the film crew to this area after scouting various locations that would resemble the terrain in Korea, according to the storyline. The film was originally made under the title, "BAPTISM OF FIRE," but was changed upon completion.
